OPEN SENATE SESSION TO ACT ON CENSURE Rebuke Pilot for Failure to Return Soviet Fire

B-29 is Shot Down; One of Crew is Killed

10 Parachute to Safety; Death is 36th by MIG Attacks

TOKYO (UP)—The pilot of an American B-29 shot down by Soviet MIGs Sunday with the loss of one life drew a sharp rebuke today from his commanding officer for not shooting back.

Capt. Anthony F. Feith of Chester, Pa., told a press conference he refused to return the fire because "I thought we might be able to finish" the B-29's photographic mission.

Feith's commanding officer, Col. Albert Welch of Dalton City, Ill., said, "These boys are to fire if fired upon. There must have been some misunderstanding. I believe that future incidents of this sort will be given a different reaction. We (Welch and Feith) are going to have a talk."

Feith and his 10-man crew were on their first aerial mapping mission over northern Japan when two Russian MIGs came out of the sun and sent the four-engine plane down in flames.

Ten of the 11 crewmen aboard parachuted to safety. One unidentified American was found dead. It was believed he was injured fatally when he fell against a cliff.

The lone casualty was the 36th American to die in unprovoked MIG attacks over northern Japan in the past three years. Eight other lives were lost at almost the same spot in October, 1952, when Russian MIGs shot down another B-29.

Gen. John E. Hull, supreme American commander in the Far East, denounced Sunday's MIG attack.

"Any claim by the Soviet attackers that the plane was over what they consider their territory is completely negated by the fall of the plane and of the survivors who parachuted from it on Hokkaido soil," Hull said.

The attack occurred shortly before

John P. Thomas, 58, Dies; Funeral Tuesday at 2 p. m.

John P. Thomas, 58, long time resident of Harrisburg who resided with his wife, Ona, and an only child, Ruby, at 1023 South Washington, died rather suddenly Sunday at 10 a. m. following a week's illness.

He was a coal miner by occupation last working at Sahara 7.

Mr. Thomas was born August 17, 1896, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to John and Clara Thomas. They moved to this area when he was a small boy. On June 18, 1916, he married Ona Noonan.

Surviving are his wife, and one daughter, Ruby Thomas, at home and the following brothers and sisters: William Thomas, Mrs. Anna Prather and Mrs. Eva Carlton, all of Harrisburg; Tommy Thomas, Hutsonville, and Garfield Thomas, Carrier Mills.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Turner funeral home. Rev. Glenn Daugherty will officiate, and burial will be in the Salem cemetery near Carrier Mills.

The body now lies in state at the Turner funeral home.

Train Late, NYC Invites Pullman Passengers To Breakfast Party

Mrs. Daisy M. Seright of The Daily Register, returning Saturday morning from Chicago where she had visited friends, reported a pleasant experience en route home on the New York Central train.

Due to heavy mail and express load, the train was about two hours late, and during the delay the Pullman passengers were invited to a breakfast "party." The porter put tables and the passengers were joined by the conductor and other members of the train crew in enjoying coffee and sweet rolls.

This event is indicative of the attempt of the New York Central to improve the service on the trains from Harrisburg to Chicago since the trains were ordered reinstated after an attempt to discontinue the service.

Eisenhower Warned to Stop Nixon to Get Demo Cooperation

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has been told that the new Democratic Congress may not cooperate if Vice President Richard M. Nixon doesn't stop claiming Democrats are soft on Communism.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell warned the President to halt the vice president's "slandering activities" if the administration wants good relations with the Democratic majorities in the Senate and House come January.

Mitchell Sunday night sharply attacked Nixon's "vilifying" of Democrats during the recent election campaign. He urged the vice president to "retract and apologize" for "this damnable business" of calling Democrats "traitors."

Hall Challenges Mitchell

But Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall immediately challenged Mitchell to "name" the time, place and circumstance "of any vilification by Nixon." Hall insisted Nixon, in the campaign, only "correctly sought to inform the American people concerning the vital issue of internal security and the relentless threat of Communist infiltration and subversion."

President Eisenhower meanwhile was reported pouring oil on the troubled waters. It was learned the White House already has sent out "peace feelers" to get the views of Democratic congressional leaders on what form the President's "consultations" with them should take.

The harmony moves were made quickly through key Republicans shortly after Mr. Eisenhower invited congressional leaders of both parties to a White House conference on foreign affairs Nov. 17.

Foreign Policy Agreement

Elsewhere on the congressional front:

1. Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said in a television interview that the Democrats will go along with 90 per cent of the President's foreign policy proposals but may insist on foreign aid changes. Monroney also predicted that Mr. Eisenhower will not be a candidate for re-election in 1956.

2. Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), who is slated to become speaker of the House, said Democrats will review the administration's entire tax program to remove "inequities and inequalities."

3. Reps. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) and Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) said they will seek early adoption of a "fair play" code for House committee hearings on the first day of the new Congress. But Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) said he will oppose a vote on the code to protect witnesses until his full rules committee has a chance to study it.

Fire Burns Dwight Wilson Home

Fire this morning did extensive damage to the Dwight Wilson residence at 501 West Locust street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were routed from their bed by the fire, which apparently started around the furnace and barely got out after turning in the alarm. Fire Chief Ray Johnson reported.

Every room in the house except one was damaged by fire and it sustained smoke and water damage.

No contents were removed from the house at the outset but after the fire was extinguished it was believed some items could be salvaged.

The fire department laid lines and fought the blaze one hour.

Four Injured by Bomb Blast in Radio City Music Hall

NEW YORK (UP)—Four persons were slightly injured Sunday night when a home-made bomb exploded amid a packed audience in Radio City Music Hall, one of the city's largest movie houses.

There was no panic among the 6,500 people watching the picture "White Christmas" when the make-shift missile went off in the 15th row on the left side of the house.

Victor Borella, vice president of Rockefeller Center and a director of the Music Hall, said there had been many bomb threats made during his 15 years with the show-house but this was the first time any had been carried out.

Carrier Mills To Vote Dec. 14 On Sewer System

Carrier Mills advanced the first step toward securing a sanitary sewer system for the community Saturday when a commission of three judges approved a petition as to the boundaries of the proposed Carrier Mills Sanitary district.

Next step will be an election to be held at Carrier Mills Dec. 14, at which the voters will decide on whether they desire the district which will provide the sanitary sewer system.

The judges who formed the commission to approve the boundaries as the present boundaries of the village of Carrier Mills, were Circuit Judge Harold Zimmerman of Marion, Circuit Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna and Saline County Judge Ralph W. Choiser.

Atty. Arlie O. Boswell and Atty. Harry McCabe represented the village of Carrier Mills at the hearing, held in the court room of the court house.

After hearing evidence as to the need of the sanitary sewer by Mayor Freeman D. O'Keefe and an engineer from Decatur, and when no objectors to the petition, which contained 126 names, were heard, the judges approved the prayer of the petition.

Then Judge Choiser set the date of the election as Dec. 14. The law provides that such an election be called to be held within 60 days from the date of the hearing.

Barrett Announces Names of Deputies

William T. "Wee" Barrett of Eldorado, Saline county sheriff-elect, today announced the names of his deputies and other appointments.

Everett Sneed of Harrisburg will be chief deputy. Jimmy Lyon of Eldorado second deputy, and Jeff Stricklin of Carrier Mills the office deputy.

Billy Gallagher of Eldorado and Green Connell, Harrisburg Negro, will be the janitors and Jim Woolard of Galatia the bailiff.

AEC Meets, But Fails to Sign Power Contract

Strauss to Report To Joint Congress A-Energy Committee

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission met for two hours today to discuss signing the Dixon-Yates power contract, but the secret meeting ended with the controversial pact still unsigned.

Edgar H. Dixon and Eugene A. Yates, utility executives who represent the private power combine involved in the contract, told a reporter after the meeting that the contract had not been signed.

AEC Chairman Lewis J. Strauss, who called the meeting in the announced hope of getting the contract finally executed, refused to tell reporters what took place behind the closed doors of the meeting room.

Strauss said he would have nothing to say until he had reported to the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee later today. It was at the committee's urging that he tried to get the contract signed today.

The commission drive to complete the execution of the contract was sparked by the congressional committee. Several members of the joint group expressed doubt Saturday as to the legality of the committee's review of the contract before it had been finally and legally executed.

To Ask Congress Action

The congressional committee has been asked to waive a provision of the Atomic Energy Act which requires that all such contracts be subjected to a 30-day review by the Senate-House committee while Congress is in session.

Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Cal) meanwhile said he will ask the new Congress to "nullify" the agreement as soon as it convenes.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) has promised an announcement on the contract during the recent election campaign Johnson pledged a "thorough ventilation" of the agreement.

Under the contract terms the Dixon-Yates utility group would build a 107 million dollar steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., and sell 600,000 kilowatts of power annually to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Bill McCormick Dies Near Carrier Mills

He leaves his wife, Lois; two brothers, Joe McCormick of Anna, and Mark McCormick of Provo, Utah; a half brother and a half sister.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Carrier Mills Methodist church. Rev. H. R. Herrin and Rev. Ernest Ammon will officiate, and burial will be in the Salem cemetery.

The body was taken from the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills to the family residence at noon today.

County Historical Society to Discuss Elizabethtown History Tuesday Night

The Saline County Historical society will discuss the history of Elizabethtown at its meeting at the Mitchell-Carnegie library Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

This quaint old town, on the Ohio river at the southern end of Route 34, was founded in 1808 by James and Elizabeth McFarland. E-town, as it is commonly known by the people of Hardin county, is located at one of the most beautiful points on the Ohio. The promontory in front of the Rose hotel, the bluffs along the river add stately beauty to the scene; and Tower Rock three miles above the town is the highest point on the river between Evansville and Paducah.

Along the tree-shaded streets of the old town, business establishments and houses of the past century lend an atmosphere of tranquility seldom seen in these busy times. In the hey-day of river traffic E-town was the stopping point for freight and passengers and life was gay and exciting. The river traffic today is mostly freight carried by tow-barges.

Former McCarthy Aide Says He Spirited Ex-Wife Out of Country During Probe

WASHINGTON (UP)—Harvey Matusow, former Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy aide, said in a television interview Sunday night with columnist Drew Pearson that he once spirited his former wife out of the country so she could not testify regarding McCarthy's finances in 1952.

Matusow is a former FBI undercover informant in the Communist party.

He said he took the woman, Mrs. Arvilla Bentley, to Nassau because McCarthy wanted her out of the country while his finances were under investigation before a Senate elections subcommittee.

McCarthy declined to comment in any way on Matusow's statements. Mrs. Bentley, former wife of Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich) and Matusow, is in Delray, Fla. She is married to a James O'Toole.

Old Stuff—No Comment

"That's some of Pearson's old, old stuff and I have nothing to say about it," he commented.

In its report, the elections subcommittee raised several questions about McCarthy's finances—including whether he diverted anti-Communist funds to his own use.

Matusow said Mr. and Mrs. Bentley had left McCarthy $10,000 to combat Communism, but that the senator instead used the money to speculate on the stock market.

The subcommittee said Bentley lent McCarthy $3,000 in 1950. It said checks amounting to $7,000 and $3,637 from the former Mrs. Bentley were deposited to McCarthy's account here in 1950 and 1951.

It said three weeks after the account was opened containing the $10,000 in 1950 checks from the Bentleys and other amounts, McCarthy authorized withdrawal of $10,000. It said the money was deposited to the account of Henry J. Van Straten, a long-time friend of McCarthy's, and used to speculate in the soybean commodity market.

The subcommittee then raised the question of whether funds given McCarthy for his anti-Communist drive were diverted to speculation.

Matusow said McCarthy's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, helped plan Mrs. Bentley's trip out of the country. He said he took Mrs. Bentley away for 2 to 2 1/2 weeks and brought her back after the subcommittee finished its investigation.

Williams told a reporter he knew nothing about the alleged incident and said Matusow's account involving him was "absolutely untrue."

Murphysboro Boy Dies After Collapsing During Football Practice

ST. LOUIS (UP)—James Brannon, 16-year-old junior at the Murphysboro, Ill., Township High School, died at St. Luke's Hospital here Sunday after collapsing during a football practice session at Murphysboro.

The boy was brought here Wednesday from a Murphysboro hospital.

Police said his death was apparently due to a brain hemorrhage. However, it was not determined here if he had suffered an injury playing football.

3 Bandits Take $4,000 from Du Quoin Plant

DU QUOIN, Ill. (UP)—City and state police hunted today for three bandits who escaped in a black car early Sunday after stealing $4,000 in cash and checks from two safes at the Du Quoin Packing Co.

State police said the case is similar to a robbery in which three men kidnapped the packing company cashier and robbed him of $3,000 in cash Sept. 30, 1951. The cashier was released later and the men drove away in a large, black car.

The masked bandits Sunday blew one safe with nitroglycerine and pried open the other after ordering four employees into a wash room where they were guarded by one of the bandits with what appeared to be a shrim gun. During the hour it took the bandits to open and rifle the safes, plant engineer Dallas Neal warned them they all would be blown up if the plant's boiler was left unattended.

One of the gunmen accompanied Neal to the boiler room and then returned him to the wash room where he tended the boiler.

The bandits drove off in a car belonging to Herbert Ifert, an employee at the plant. Three high school boys saw the gunmen a short distance from the packing plant where they transferred to what appeared to be a late model black Oldsmobile and headed for downtown Du Quoin.

Seek Damages for Two Deaths in Auto-Train Crash

A lawsuit was on file in circuit court today seeking damages as a result of an auto-train crash that took the lives of two young men last Armistice Day.

Plaintiffs are Curtis Rider, administrator of the estate of the late Paul Louis Rider, 21-year-old Junction youth, and Harold S. Wathen, administrator of the estate of the late James Louis Wathen, 27, of Ridgway, both killed in a collision of the auto and a New York Central train at 9 p. m. last Nov. 11 at the Beulah Heights crossing southwest of Eldorado.

Named defendants are the New York Central and Raphael A. Raben, 27, Ridgway, driver of the car who escaped with serious injuries.

The plaintiffs ask $20,000 in each death in the complaint, filed for them by the local law firm, Rumsey and Dennis.

McCarthy Says Report Changes Will Be Unfair

Protests After Watkins Says Group May Amend Resolution

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senator Joseph R. McCarthy declared today it would be "completely unfair" for a special committee which recommended censuring him to make any changes in its report.

The Wisconsin Republican immediately plunged the Senate into debate over the report less than an hour after it convened in an unusual session to consider the censure recommendations.

He protested after Chairman Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) said the censure committee intends to amend the original censure resolution to make it conform to the censure recommendations in the committee report.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) had said he expected no debate on the issue today.

Says Very Few Changes

But exchanges began when McCarthy said "I think it would be highly improper to change the report at this time." He said he had based his defense on the original report and it would be "completely unfair" to allow any changes.

"They made their bed and should lie in it now," he said.

Watkins, whose seat is next to McCarthy's, smiled slightly once or twice as McCarthy made the accusations.

After a lengthy exchange between Knowland and McCarthy, Watkins arose to explain that there were "very few changes" in the report itself—consisting largely of correction of typographical errors and deletion of four or five lines containing an "obvious error."

Only a few minutes before the Senate convened, McCarthy—who concedes he will be censured by the Senate—said that would not stop him from speaking out when he found dishonesty in government.

Watkins explained that the committee's resolution would not be ready until Wednesday because it wanted to get the okay of one member who was missing.

Committee in Session

The censure committee met for 80 minutes before today's Senate session, but one member was missing—Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.), who was delayed in his home state by the death of Gov. William B. Umstead.

McCarthy made his statements at ceremonies at which the American Coalition—a group of patriotic organizations—presented McCarthy with its patriotic service medal, and the Catholic War Veterans of New York presented him with 250,000 signatures protesting the proposed censure.

The ceremonies were held in Nixon's office directly off the Senate chamber only a few minutes before the Senate convened.

Auto Overtakes, Youth Hospitalized, Three Others Hurt

One of four occupants was hospitalized yesterday afternoon when an automobile landed on its nose and remained with its rear up in the air against a corn crib near Pankeyville.

Hurt was Troy Cisco, 14, Harrisburg, taken in an ambulance to the Harrisburg hospital suffering a leg injury and cuts and bruises.

Suffering minor injuries and not hospitalized were Wendell Ray Ervin, 16, and Roy Goulsby, 16, of Harrisburg, and Jackie Quartermoss, 19, who lives between Muddy and Wasson.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat said that Ervin was driving the car, which was travelling north on Route 34. The car left the highway, hitting a concrete abutment, breaking a power pole in two and landing with the back of the machine in the air against the corn crib.

Ervin told Sweat a car in front of him slowed and that he lost control.

The incident occurred around 4:20 p. m.

DREW PEARSON Says:
Former McCarthy Aide Reveals Solon's Tactics; Ben-

ator Used On Soy-Bean Speculation; Texans Retaliate Against Democratic Deserter.

WASHINGTON.—On the eve of the McCarthy censure debate, a former associate of McCarthy's has given highly revealing information regarding his operations.
They include:

1. An attempt by McCarthy to thwart the Senate committee probing his finances in 1951.
2. McCarthy's efforts to defeat Democratic candidates in Utah, Montana and Washington by smearing them as pro-Communists.

The ex-McCarthy associate, Harvey Matusow, is a former member of the Communist party who became disillusioned, gave information to the FBI and later joined McCarthy's long list of friends, informers and paid employees. Interviewed by this writer, Matusow told in detail how McCarthy had sent him to Utah to re-elect — of all people — Sen. Arthur Watkins, now chairman of the Senate committee which recommended the censure of McCarthy.

Matusow did this, he said, first by testifying before a Senate committee in Salt Lake City about Communists in the government and later by smearing Congressman Granger, Democratic opponent of Senator Watkins, as soft toward Communists.

"I used McCarthy logic," Matusow explained. "I said Granger was for pro-administration policy on China. . . China fell to the Reds and your boys are fighting in Korea."

"I also campaigned in Montana against Senator Mansfield and in Washington against Senator Jackson," Matusow said, "but the King, Queen Tuesday

The Carrier Mills high school

be selected Tuesday, with the entire student body participating.
Two senior girls — Carol Felty

boys that are candidates for King are Dick Santy and Bill Morse.
The king and queen will be selected Tuesday but their identity will not be publicly revealed until the time of the coronation, which will be following the homecoming basketball game Saturday night.

THE BIGGEST item on the agenda
of the General Assembly is to redraw the lines of the legislative districts after the success of the Blue Ballot proposal Tuesday.

The closeness of the House
contest automatically dictates
a truly non-partisan drawing
of the map.

It could also mean some gerrymandering to pacify some Democratic lawmakers in Chicago and members of both parties downstate.

THE NARROW GOP House margin
almost certainly spells curtains
for any controversial Stratton legislation. Even with a comfortable edge two years ago a number of Stratton's pet bills were pigeon-holed.

election list probably will

LADY WITNESS EXITS
Describing his work for McCarthy in thwarting the Senate committee probing McCarthy's finances, Matusow said he had received a call from Mrs. J. B. Matthews, whose husband was then McCarthy's committee counsel, asking him to take Mrs. Arvilla
Bentley out of the United States
until the probe of McCarthy's finances blew over.

Mrs. Bentley, former wife of Congressman Alvin Bentley, had
"loaned" $7,000 to McCarthy, while the Congressman "loaned" $3,000. And the Senate wanted to question her regarding this and other contributions, Mrs. Bentley, Matusow said, had also paid for a Mutual network broadcast which McCarthy made before the 1950 elections.

Matusow said McCarthy knew all about the idea of taking Mrs.
Bentley out of the United States
away from Senate probes and that he, Matusow, had talked to McCarthy himself about it. He also said that McCarthy's attorney knew about the plan.

Mrs. Bentley remained in the British Bahamas outside the arm of a Senate subpoena for about two weeks, then came back to the States, Matusow explained.

"Was this $10,000 the money used by McCarthy to speculate on the soy-bean market?" Matusow was asked.

"That's correct."

"Did Mrs. Bentley have any idea that McCarthy was going to use it for speculation?"

"No, she did not."

"Did she express any opinion to you about it?"

"Very definitely," Matusow replied. "She said that if she had known Senator McCarthy was going to speculate with his money, she never would have loaned it to him."

Matusow also said that McCarthy had asked to investigate the New York Times, Time Magazine and other newspapers with a view to pinning the Communist party label on them.

"They had been attacking Senator McCarthy," the ex-McCarthy aide explained, "and he was sore about it and wanted to take his revenge."

LONE STAR REVENGE

There was an interesting inside reason why the Republicans elected one lone Texas congressman, Bruce Alger, from Dallas. It was a pure case of Democratic revenge.

The revenge was not against the Republicans but against Democrat Walter Savage, who had double-crossed the Democrats in the 1952 presidential election.

Savage, who ran for Congress
last year, was Democratic state chairman two years ago when he turned the Democratic machinery over to the Republicans in the presidential election and helped swing the state to Eisenhower.
While Savage was Democratic state chairman, his partner, Alvin Lane, was Republican state chairman. They formed an interesting GOP team.

This year Savage decided to run for Congress as a Democrat. But when Dallas voters went to the polls on Tuesday, thousands of Democrats boycotted the Democratic candidate. Remembering the man who as Democratic chairman had thrown the party machinery to Eisenhower, many Democrats either voted against him or just didn't vote at all.

Meanwhile, the Republicans, who used Savage in 1952, destroyed him in 1954. They elected their own man, Alger.

Note—Savage had been so confident of victory that he had lined up his staff and even rented a house in Washington.

REPUBLICAN HEADACHE
Republicans are worried that the McCarthy censure session will turn into a party brawl with the Democrats sitting serenely on the sidelines.

Their chief concern is that Mc-Carthy, who insists he can't be bought off with anything less than acquittal on the censure charge, will aim his smear machine at Republicans and drag them down with him. To avoid this, a group of moderates headed by majority leader Bill Knowland will try to water down the censure resolution and persuade McCarthy to accept it.

McCarthy is almost sure to refuse and will carry his fight on for weeks, no matter how much the censure resolution is toned down.

Tough Sledding Predicted for Governor Stratton in Assembly

Reapportionment Up With Only Slim Margin in House

(Chicago Daily News)
Gov. Stratton — like President Eisenhower in the White House — faces a tough final two years in his administration.

Stratton is better off than the President, however — the governor's party still controls both houses of the state legislature.

But the Republicans' edge in the Illinois House is paper thin. They have only a small vote margin over the 77 needed to pass legislation.
Unofficially, the count is 80 Republicans and 73 Democrats.

This contrasts to the prior House where the Republicans held a 20-vote edge.

THE BIGGEST item on the agenda
of the General Assembly is to redraw the lines of the legislative
districts after the success of the Blue Ballot proposal Tuesday.

The closeness of the House
contest automatically dictates
a truly non-partisan drawing
of the map.

It could also mean some gerrymandering to pacify some Democratic lawmakers in Chicago and
members of both parties downstate.

THE NARROW GOP House margin
almost certainly spells curtains
for any controversial Stratton legislation. Even with a comfortable
edge two years ago a number of Stratton's pet bills were pigeon-
holed.

A state crime commission

election list probably will

President's Help Prevented Worse Defeat: Martin

WASHINGTON (AP)—House
Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. credited President Eisenhower's last-minute campaign activities with averting an even worse election defeat for the Republicans.

The Massachusetts Republican said in an interview that Mr. Eisenhower, along with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, made a powerful appeal to Republican voters that, given another week, they might have turned the tide.

"If it hadn't been for the President the Republican vote would have been smaller," Martin said.
"He did a good job of arousing the Republican voters. If we had had another week we could have beaten them (the Democrats)."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon
B. Johnson, meanwhile, declared that he was "sorry that in the heat of the campaign" the Republicans "questioned the character and patriotism of Democrats." While he did not say so, Johnson's remark appeared to be aimed in part at Nixon who stumpled the country attacking what he called "left-wing" Democrats.

Predicts Re-Election
"But that's water over the bridge," Johnson said on his arrival here from Texas Friday night. "The election is over and it is the high and solemn duty of the American people to conduct themselves in their highest traditions."

Johnson also declared that the American people don't want
"jungle warfare" between the Republican administration and the Democratic Congress.

Martin said Mr. Eisenhower still is immensely popular. He predicted, as he has previously, that the President will be a candidate again in 1956 and that he will be re-elected.

"I think conditions in the country will make it necessary for the President to be a candidate again," he said. "As one who has never failed to answer a call to duty, the President will answer that one too."

Mrs. D. H. Hiller Attends Springfield Woman's Club

Mrs. D. H. Hiller, 13 East Dayton, spent from Sunday to Wednesday of last week with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Church, at their home near Marshall. Also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Church were their two grandchildren, Delmar Dwight and Patricia Joan Buckle.

The latter part of the week was spent by Mrs. Hiller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis in Pana. On Thursday evening Mrs. Hiller was the guest of the Davis' at the meeting of the Springfield Woman's club of which Mrs. Davis is a member. The program for the evening consisted of a series of monologues given by Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner. The first half of the program was made up of three modern monologues: "The Facts of Life," portraying a young mother trying to tell her small son the so-called "facts"; "The Yearly American Invasion," studies of various types of Americans in Paris, ranging from the Left Bank art student to the very bored woman from Fresno, Calif., who complained that she "couldn't even get a cup of coffee"; and "Being Presented," the picture in words of a woman from Nebraska getting ready for presentation to the Queen at Buckingham palace.

The second half of Miss Skinner's program was titled "The Wives of Henry VIII" and gave intimate word pictures of each of the six wives of the English king, beginning with Catherine of Aragon, who married the young Henry, and ending with Katherine Parr, sitting beside the bed of the aged and dying monarch. A complete change of costume was effected for each character, and Miss Skinner seemed to change her entire personality as easily as she changed costumes.

Mr. Hiller, who had been in Chicago for the week, joined his wife at Pana on Friday evening and a most enjoyable visit was had overnight in the Davis' lovely home, the couple returning to Harrisburg Saturday afternoon.

It was announced that a mission study clinic would be held next Tuesday, Nov. 9, at the First Baptist church in Harrisburg.

Father of 10 Flies Solo Across Atlantic

PARIS — Max Conrad, Atlantic flyer, song composer and father of 10 children, said today during his 22-hour solo flight in a light plane from New York to Paris he worked out several new tunes he hopes to sell.

His first stop today was at a music store where he bought sheet music paper on which to set down the tunes he made up on his harmonica while winging across the Atlantic along the route blazed by Charles A. Lindbergh.

Sergeant Killed In Auto Crash

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. — Sgt. Edward R. Wooley, 29, of Scott Air Force Base, was killed early Sunday when a car he was driving overturned and hit two parked cars at a tavern about eight miles west of here.

Elwood L. Mitchell, also of Scott AFB and a passenger in the car, was injured critically.

The accident occurred a short distance north of the Junction of Ill. 3 and 144, Jackson county sheriff's office said.

Officers did not know the airman's hometowns but said Wooley was driving a car with Rhode Island license plates.

Officers said Wooley apparently lost control of the car on a curve near the tavern before crashing into the parked autos.

Senate Meets to Consider Censure

way, five new senators elected on Tuesday or appointed after the Senate recessed in August lined up to be sworn in. Seven lame ducks who will not be back in January also were present. Despite the new faces, however, the standings remained as they were before the election: 49 Republicans, 46 Democrats, one independent.

The censure argument got off to a head start yesterday when Sens. McCarthy, Francis Case (R-SD), Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), and Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) sounded off in various television interviews. McCarthy said he has received "no commitments from any Republicans" but "I don't think the Republican leadership is going to go along with this. I hope not." Knowland said today, "I refuse to commit myself." He indicated there would be no formal party stand on the issue, the same position the Democratic leadership has taken.

McCarthy declared he will bare his much-criticized finances — as Vice President Richard M. Nixon did during the 1952 political campaign — only if all other senators are required to do likewise.

Case Takes Exception
Case, a member of the censure committee, took exception to McCarthy's describing the special session as a "lynching bee." He also said Johnson, another committee member, "leaned over backwards to indicate" he was not biased against McCarthy as McCarthy has charged.

Dirksen said he would have challenged Johnson's right to sit on the "jury" but does not believe the Watkins Committee was "stacked" against McCarthy.

Johnson himself emphasized that he never personally said he "loathed" McCarthy, as the senator has claimed, but merely that Democratic leaders "loathe" him. Monroney expects McCarthy to make the "same type of charges" on the Senate floor regardless of the outcome of the Senate session.

Plan Clearing House for Blood Banks

CHICAGO (U.P.) — The Illinois State Medical Society today announced plans for a clearing house to help in the giving of blood in 11 North Central States for patients in any parts of the nation.

It will be the first of five district clearing houses to be set up by the American Assn. of Blood Banks covering the entire country.

The clearing houses will not be blood banks in themselves. Instead, they will act like bank clearing houses, performing duties for blood banks already in existence.

Thus a Chicago donor willing to give blood for a patient in California may give it to a Chicago blood bank, but the actual blood will be taken from a blood bank in California.

The Chicago clearing house will serve blood banks in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Expect Arrest Of Gunman in Shooting at Cairo

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—Police said today they expect to learn soon "from other sources" the identity of a gunman who fired a shot from a tow-boat and wounded a CIO union organizer.

Police Chief Earl Shepherd Jr. said he will issue a warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon as soon as he learns the identity of the man who shot Gordon Knapp, 30, Saturday as he approached the tow-boat M-V George. The towboat is owned by the Banta Towing Co., of Plaquemine, La., which three unions are trying to organize.

Shepherd said Capt. George J. Banta of the M-V George was asked to surrender the man who fired the shot but refused and moved the towboat up the Ohio river with a string of barges.

The CIO Maritime Union, which employs Knapp, the CIO Marine Engineers and the AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots Union set up picket lines at an Ohio river landing here.

Police said Knapp was approaching the M-V George and was about 10 feet away from it when he was shot. Knapp was taken to a hospital.

Bohlen Offers Toast to Molotov At Kremlin Affair

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen offered a toast to Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov Sunday night and described him as "the most experienced diplomat in this room."

"This room" was a reception hall in the Great Palace of the Kremlin where Soviet leaders and foreign diplomats, including Communist China's ambassador, had assembled on the occasion of the 37th anniversary of the Russian revolution.

Bohlen also held a 40-minute conversation with Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov in their first meeting since the American diplomat came to Moscow.

Bohlen paid tribute to Molotov after the Russian foreign secretary had suggested that Soviet and American diplomats should strive for better relations between the two countries.

Mate of Tavern Waitress Slain

GURNEE, Ill. (AP)—The husband of a tavern waitress was shot and killed late Sunday in a quarrel with a customer over attentions paid his wife.

Joseph Stock, 40, Waukegan, was killed by a .22 caliber bullet, which struck him in the stomach.

The customer, James H. Lanier, 21, Waukegan, was charged with murder.

Lanier told police he was sitting near Stock's wife, Dolly, a waitress, at the bar in the Peacock Supper Club when Stock approached and said, "I've had enough."

Stock then punched and dragged him toward the door by the collar, Lanier said. As they got to the door, a .22 caliber target pistol, which he had tucked in his belt, fell to the floor, Lanier said.

Lanier said he grabbed for the gun and it went off, hitting Stock. He said Stock's wife had told him she was not married.

Rebuke Pilot for Failure to Return Fire

fore Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov, at a lavish reception for foreign diplomats in Moscow, spoke of peace and of friendship with the United States.

Senators Angry
It drew angry reaction from U. S. senators in Washington. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, who has called for a diplomatic break with Russia, said there will be more American planes shot down unless more drastic action is taken.

Feith said he was "certain" the MIGs flew into Japanese territory to attack his plane.

Copilot 1st Lt. David N. Oliver, Corvallis, Ore., backed up Feith's statement. He said at one time the MIGs were 15 miles from their own territory. Radar trackings confirmed their charges.

Airman Second Class Walter K. Lentz of New York City, first man to spot the MIGs, said he "lost" his head when the MIGs opened fire without warning.
"They were pulling up in an inverted dive," Lentz told newsmen. "They slid under the plane and came back. I saw the first yellow burst and then I lost my head and screamed. They're firing."

Lentz switched his 50-caliber machine guns into firing position and then waited for Feith's order to return the fire.

But Feith said he did not order his crew to fire because "we didn't complete our mission and someone was going to have to get those pictures. We thought that we might be able to finish the run."

Blame Defective Water Heater on Deaths of 10 Persons

NEW YORK (AP)—Health department officials today blamed a defective water heater for the deaths of 10 persons, including six children.

Jerome Trichter, assistant health commissioner, said the second-hand water heater in the three-room apartment where the victims died Sunday had generated enough poisonous fumes "to kill a squadron of men in half an hour."

William Morrison, an early merchant of the Kaskaskia region, shipped one flatboat load of furs in 1790 valued at more than $34,000. (SIU)

THE STORY: Greg Seaver does not seem to fit anywhere because he is so overshadowed by his vigorous, dogmatic stepfather, Horace Crain, manufacturer of Crain's Canned Cornbread, and his absurdly young and decorative mother. Since getting out of the Army, Greg has been employed by his stepfather, but now Greg feels the first urge to revolt. Oddly, this feeling comes with the first signs of spring.

In crime it is the first step that counts. The torn pages scattered on the carpet represented the rejection, the overthrow, of the way they expect you to do things.

That morning Greg did not go laboriously through the News of the Week section in order to keep up with Current Events. This procedure was recommended by his stepfather who found it the most useful way of starting conversations. Instead, he read avidly every word about a mysterious disappearance that would probably turn out to be a murder.

Things happen to other people, Greg thought. Nothing ever happens to me. Not that he wanted to be involved in murder; he just wanted to be involved in something.

The sky was dark gray and the rain fell monotonously; one of those sudden, dreary March rains that turn the crusty snow into dirty pools of water. Late March in New York City was a time of bitter wind and leaden skies, of slush underfoot and subways smelling of wet coats and galoshes; a slovenly old man who had outstayed his welcome. All week you looked forward to Sunday and then what could you do? He picked up the Saturday Review and flicked the pages. Among the personals his eye fell on an advertisement:

WANTED: College graduate with high hopes and no experience wants interesting job. Greg snorted. Interesting job! That showed he had no experience.

Twenty-six stories below the window where Greg's desk was placed inside beaverboard partitions on the big loft floor that housed the clerical staff of Crain's Canned Cornbread, the river which began as a stream above Albany, flowed majestically between New Jersey and Manhattan, and eventually went out to sea. In the summer it was a deep sparkling blue; in winter a gray turgid mass with floating ice cakes.

On Monday mornings Greg started the week right by turning his back squarely to the window but by Friday afternoon he found it increasingly difficult to concentrate or charting the rise and fall of cornbread sales in B income groups. Instead, he watched the tugboats, ferries, freighters and ocean liners that floated on the loveliest of all rivers. The impertinent toots of small craft, the deep-throated warnings of big ones, were like voices calling, beckoning over the horizon.

At twilight the patient lady in the harbor lifted her lamp like a light kept burning in the window to welcome the wanderer home. It would be good to come back like that, Greg thought, back from far places just at twilight, with New York lighted up and the lady holding her lamp to see you safely home. But to come back you have to go somewhere first. Greg's one journey had been at the pressing invitation of Uncle Sam and he had returned in a fog by way of San Francisco. He had not even seen the Golden Gate.

At that time he was lucky. Horace Crain had the job waiting when Greg got out of the Army. A nice job. Nice people too. And his mother had been right. Why look around for something to suit him when Horace could handle it? She did not say Horace could handle it better. That was unnecessary.

Greg was doing all right. His Army severance pay had been banked. His stepfather wanted him to invest it but Greg kept making excuses. He liked knowing the money was where he could get at it.

His own money. And then he sat bolt upright, his mouth half open in sheer astonishment. He had gone to work for Crain's Canned Cornbread to please his stepfather but he did not have to stay to please anyone. He was free to strike out, to try something else.

The idea was more than he could absorb at once. He thought it over, savored it. Free. The word was less exhilarating than he had supposed. More alarming. It involved a suggestion of choice and Greg realized that, aside from moving out of the Montclair house and into the Yorkville apartment, he had never made a major choice. The safe thing was to go along with the main stream. Anyhow, if he did not attempt to do anything special, he would never have the humiliation of failing, of confirming Horace Crain's belief that he was bound to fail on his own.

The rain had stopped and through a rent in the clouds a pale light came through the Venetian blinds. He walked slowly across the room, kicking the basket of wine bottles as he passed, aware of the coming of the new season as he had not been aware since adolescence, which, at 26, seemed light-years away. His conscience gripped him by the shoulder, warned him to ignore the heady quality of the air; but it had already touched his nostrils, been drawn into his lungs.

Free. The word that had fallen like a stone was, on repetition, a bright-colored balloon, and he tossed it into the air. If he could do anything he wanted, what would he choose? To his surprise he found no immediate answer. But there must be something. Things happen to other people. Why not him?

He grinned to himself and pulled a fountain pen out of his pocket.

WANTED: Man, 26, anxious to give up a good job with a future for practically any job with a present.

He made out a check and addressed an envelope to the Saturday Review. Then, because he had nothing else to do, he went out and mailed it.
